How we're doing

July - September 2026

Open Banking – a quarterly report

What can this report tell me?

This report is a good way for you to see how we're performing in Open Banking.
We'll usually publish it four times a year and it will help you to see:
• how long all of our online services are up or down (otherwise known as 'uptime' or 'downtime').
• how long all of our online services take to respond to each and every request.
• how frequently we have errors that mean that other websites or apps can't talk to our systems.

Why do we publish this?

We do this, because both the European Banking Authority and the Financial Conduct Authority want to make sure that you're getting the best possible service – as do we. This means that each and every financial provider in Open Banking needs to publish the same types of data.

How can I find out more about Open Banking?

We like to gauge how long it takes us to respond to each account information request. So, whatever account info you're sharing, we'll always track how quick we are. The bar chart and figures below, show just how speedy we've been this quarter.

Error rates

July – September 2026

Sometimes, when a website or app tries to speak to our systems, there may be a hitch. If we can't provide them with an access point (also called an 'API'), then the request will fail and we'll report it as an error. The bar chart and figures below, show the error rates this quarter.
